

Forecast For Baltimore And Vicinity

The Sun (1837-); May 6, 1911; ProQuest Historical Newspapers: The Baltimore Sun

pg. 1

of the proposed Anglo-American treaty were passed by the National Peace Congress. Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, presided at the banquet at night.

At a meeting of his cabinet and heads of State departments Governor Crothers proposed a new road loan of $5,000,000, of which he said half should be applied to the improvement of city streets.

The West segregation ordinance passed the Second Branch City Council and goes to the Mayor.

The grand jury indicted George J. Neilson, chauffeur of the automobile which struck the carriage of the late Rev. Dr. J. Houston Eccleston, on the charge of manslaughter.

In the report of the retiring grand jury it is urged that steps be taken to purify the water supply, to increase the police traffic squad and to enforce the Corrupt Practices act.

Mayor-elect Preston is choosing the paving commission to direct the work authorized by the passage of the $5,000,000 paving loan.

Dr. James M. H. Rowland was sworn in by Mayor Mahool as a member of the School Board.

Judge Heuisler decided against Judge Brune, who sued to prevent Mayor Mahool from appointing his successor in the Appeal Tax Court.

Physicians urge Baltimore as the best city for the medical congress on tropical diseases.

The Governor and staff and Mayor and cabinet will be prominent guests at the Broadway carnival.

Harry and Charles Love were found guilty of assault in the trial on the charge of killing George Gill at Clover Shore, Bear creek.

Mr. J. Marsh Matthews was appointed a member of the Board of Police Examiners to succeed the late Dr. J. D. Norris.

Maryland.

In a confession Perry Thompson, a negro, implicates a white man in the burning of the Junior Order American Mechanics Hall at Rock Hall.

The Anne Arundel grand jury recommends the building of a new jail at Annapolis.

Judge Henderson decided that Sunday work on the Western Maryland railroad extension is necessary.

The reassessment of property shows an increase of nearly $5,000,000 in the taxable basis of Harford county.

Virginia And West Virginia.

Martinsburg, W. Va., will be "dry" for a year from June 30.

A negro narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of a Fairfield, Va., mob.

Luray's water system is to be extended.

National Affairs.

Chairman Underwood, of the Ways and Means Committee, expects that the House will reach a vote on the Free List bill next Monday.

Congressman Konig, of Baltimore, introduced his first bill, which aims to make naturalization of aliens easier.

Domestic Telegraph.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, addressed the Fork and Knife Club in Kansas City.

Five persons died in a mine fire at Ne-gaunee, Mich.

Foreign.

The early resignation of President Diaz, of Mexico, is expected in Mexico City.

President Taft has decided to send no warships to Mexican ports for the present.

A limited women's enfranchisement bill passed the House of Commons.

The Anglo-Japanese treaty was ratified.

Where To Find Today's News.

The classification of THE SUN'S news today is as follows:

Pages	Pages
Gen. Telegraph.....1, 2, 7, 15	Local.....1, 8, 9, 10, 11, 16
Washington.....2, 14	Sporting.....12, 13
Maryland.....7	Shipping.....13
Virginia.....7	Markets.....14

Forecast For Baltimore And Vicinity

Fair today and Sunday, moderate temperature.

City And Suburban.

Resolutions calling on the quick passage